EXPERIMENTATION AND FREE PLAYGROUND

"EVERYONE CAN BE CREATIVE, IT ONLY TAKES TIME AND SPACE" (R. NICHOLSON)

Play is one of the ways in which children acquire knowledge, it is a source of learning.

It is one of the first languages of communication and dialogue for a child, whether individual or shared, makes the individual communicate with their environment and become self-aware.

The space consists of quality material, educational and renowned teaching lines.

All the material is made by us, made of noble wood and respecting the environment. During the free passage of the space to be explored, children are offered the opportunity to experiment with wood and other materials by blowing their imagination into symbolic and sensory play, with the aim of encouraging curiosity and the desire to 'experiment ... We want to arouse the curiosity of children who want to understand the world by asking themselves questions.

All this material harmoniously combined, results in a quality playground ideal to stimulate, arouse curiosity and entertain the youngest for hours, naturally and freely, without rules of play.

It stimulates values such as: sharing, respecting, helping, between laughter and emotions, creating rich environments, with non-specific materials that generate open and discovery game processes. Free spaces where children will not be judged, experimenting without prejudice in an interactive environment.

Playing with loose pieces offers endless possibilities and stimulates creativity, divergent thinking and problem solving that arise in creative thinking.
